

the fbi questions the boyfriend, offers him a deal, xxx tells him that the cop shes captured is her dad. the boyfriend signs the deal.

the basement of a restaurant. the girl is there with the cop, who is gagged. she says its her turn to talk. he has let her down, not listened to what she needed. shes got a tv in ~~front~~ front of him so he can see the news about how hes going to be killed. she says its his last moment to speak. takes off his gag. she has a gun and is threatening him with it. to speak to her. he says he never meant to hurt her. but its too llate. she shoots herself.

the father is wailing, tied, helpless, as other cops rush in and hold their guns over his daughter, the terrorists, dead body. 'get away frok her' at the end, what he says is that he wanted what was best for her. she says theres no way he could be the judge of what was best for ~~her~~ her.

a messenger, someone weve never met before, delivers the tape to the newsman the boy xx meets her in the friends restaurant because she is holding the restaurenteurs baby and he recognizes the baby...they meet after closing time. the restaurant closes with her in it. then some guy comes in...the future boyfriend. nah...they meet in the park, in public.

~~later, they meet in the park~~ in the park, the newsman gets arrested for taunting cops who are arresting a jaywalker.

in her tent, they fall in love, she hints at her crime ties

brotherhood

she elaborates on her crime activity...he suggests the suvs he gets mad at her for the suvs ... she flips about something he does sexually (because it reminds her of her father) in the tent, hes now part of the planning team the newsman refuses to id the boy
